

Response: BlackEconomics.org Commentary (11/22/24)
“No Longer a Credible Threat: No. 2”

Mr. Q. Greene of Palmares Research

Dear Dr. Robinson:

This is being written from my second home in Accra, Ghana, in West Africa where I often spend the holidays. A few days ago I witnessed a ceremony where a total of 524 African-Americans and others from the global African diaspora gained Ghanaian citizenship. I mention this in light of the commentary I have been reading about the reaction of many of our people in the U.S. to the results of the recent Presidential Election. Amid all of the hand wringing, finger pointing, soul searching and pontification about "What went wrong" in the election, it seems that far too many of our brothers and sisters have been unable to get one simple fact through their thick skulls, NOTHING WENT WRONG!

The outcome of that election was entirely predictable. Although we, at Palmares Research, did not foresee the return of the former President, the Conclusion Chapter (page 53) of our African-American National Plan, published in 2022 and available online at palmaresresearch.com, did foresee the rising neo-fascist elements in his political party gaining complete control of the machinery of the United States Government. That election turned out exactly as it was supposed to. The natural order of things in America has been restored. The country founded by and for the benefit of white men of Western European descent is once again in safe hands. The right people are now in charge and the illegal immigrants, the "Queers", the "woke" folks, and all of those "enemies" pushing that subversive diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI) nonsense will finally be put back in their proper place.

The fascist playbook is now open and the next steps are clear. All that is required is some sort of crisis, real or imagined, foreign or domestic, that can be used by the President to justify declaring a National Emergency. Under a declaration of National Emergency any and all Constitutional Rights can be suspended. This is what Adolph Hitler did 90 years ago in Germany and the incoming American President is known to be an admirer of Adolph Hitler.

Whether we like it or not, this most recent Presidential election has made it perfectly clear that the United States of America is THEIR country, not ours. It doesn't matter that we were born in the United States and called citizens, we exist in THEIR country at THEIR pleasure. All sorts of Civil Rights Laws against racial and ethnic discrimination can be on the books, but they are worthless if the President, his Justice Department, the Congress and the Federal Courts refuse to enforce them.

So let's get real. Jim Crow 2.0 is on the horizon. The handwriting is on the wall for all who care to see it. Therefore, common sense dictates that those of us who can should be about preparing a Plan B for ourselves and our families. This past week I watched several hundred enlightened African-Americans and other Africans from the Caribbean and elsewhere see their own Plan B fulfilled here in Ghana. In speaking to the gathering Ghana's President, Nana Addo Dankwa Akufo-Addo, summed it all up when he said:

"Africa is your home, and Ghana welcomes you with open arms. This is more than a ceremony, it is a reaffirmation of our collective identity and destiny."

Sincerely,
Q. Greene
Palmares Research

P.S. Feel free to share this observation with others if you so choose.